

Jake Morris defends title

The Clackamas Review, Sep 16, 2009

PORTLAND – Oregon City’s Jake Morris successfully defended his Full Contact Fighting Federation 155-pound title in a Sept. 5 mixed martial arts cage match at the Roseland Theater, defeating Mario Rossi of Team Redux in the main event.

Morris, who graduated from Oregon City High School this year and who first took up mixed martial arts in December of last year, upped his career record in mixed martial arts to 6-0 with his win over Rossi.

Morris, who competes as an amateur for Team Quest, defeated Rossi by submission in just 1:32, using a rear-naked chokehold.

No opponent has lasted an entire mixed martial arts match with Morris, who was a standout wrestler for Oregon City High School.

Morris is enrolled at Clackamas Community College and he will wrestle for the Cougars during the upcoming season.
